Navigating the Self-Paced CR Course

Presently all Credit Recovery courses with the exception of English 1 and 2 follow our self-paced format.

When you first enter your course you should remember to read the announcements and then access the “Orientation” unit. Make sure you review the Navigating the Course link found within the Getting Started section.

When accessing a unit for the first time, you will see just the introduction. Open and read through the introduction and print any printable material such as vocabulary journals and student guides (outlines). Return to the unit along the navigation panel and check “Marked Reviewed.”

After you check “Mark Reviewed,” your first section quiz will appear. Before clicking on the quiz, make sure you are ready to take this quiz. You must hit “Submit” every time you enter a quiz. If you back out of a quiz or just hit save this will still be an attempted and will lock up your gradebook and you will receive a zero for that attempt.
If you receive a 70% or higher on your quiz, the next section quiz will be released.

Introduction to Earth Science

If you receive less than a 70% on your quiz, the section material will open. Enter the section, take notes, complete the practice exercises, and complete your vocabulary journals including any provided student guides (outlines). Once you are sure that you have a good understanding of the unit, re-enter the section quiz and make a second attempt. You have a total of 5 attempts on each quiz or exam. It is important to realize though that it will be your most recent attempt that counts, not the highest.

Once you have passed the quiz and you are ready to take the next section quiz, check mark reviewed. This box is next to the section material to release the next quiz.

Remember you can always access section material through the Table of Contents in the Orientation.
Aventa Self-Paced Credit Recovery FAQ

1. I do not see my first quiz?
   a. The student most likely has not checked the Mark as Reviewed button.
   b. Direct them to view the video at the bottom of the first page of the Getting Started section.
   c. Send them a Navigating Self-paced document.

2. I click on the quiz icon and nothing happens.
   a. The student is probably not at the assignment link. They are probably on the html page that indicates that they should go take the quiz. None of our assignments can link directly from the page to the assignment. Students must access the quiz or exam from the Blackboard link.

   !Now that you have reviewed all of the course material in this section, go back and retake N-Quiz 1. Once you have successfully mastered (passed) N-Quiz 1 proceed to N-Quiz 2, which is worth 10 points.

3. The material on the quiz is for the following unit.
   a. The student probably meant to re-take the former quiz and accidentally marked as reviewed and saw the next quiz become available.
   b. New courses no longer have pre and post quizzes. Students are allowed to take any one quiz or exam 5 times.
4. I took the quiz just 3 times but the computer says I have used up my attempts.
   a. The student probably did take the quiz 3 times but opened it two other times without submitting the assignment.
   b. Reinforce that opening a quiz is an attempt. You can clear one of the un-submitted assignments but do not go and hunt for these unless asked to clear by a mentor.

5. I received a 9/10 on a quiz but it says I have a 6/10.
   a. The student probably retook the quiz after receiving the 9/10 and received a lower grade.
   b. Remind students that it is their last attempt that counts and not the highest attempt.

6. What is the difference between Grade to Date and Running Total?
   a. Grade to Date – is the grade on assignments attempted.
   b. Running Total – is the grade you would receive if you did not submit or re-do another assignment.

7. How can I review material before taking a quiz or unit exam?
   a. Students can access all section materials (even if they have not been released) by going to the Orientation link – Table of Contents

8. The Study Guide (or section material) was visible but it is now gone?
   a. The section material and study guides will disappear if in re-taking a quiz they achieve 70% or higher.
   b. Section Material they can access through the Table of Contents.
   c. Study Guides should be printed or at least downloaded and saved as they become visible.

9. Can I have my password for the exam?
   a. No – students may not be given the password directly
   b. Refer students back to the mentors.
   c. Please share the password in your first communication with the mentor – do not delay.
   d. If it is a mentor asking you can remind them that they have access to the passwords in the Mentor Resource Center. http://aventalearning.com/login username: mentor  password: mentor

10. I finished the course what should I do?
    a. Have the mentor email the teacher to request that they be graded out.
    b. The above may change slightly if/when we move to automated Final Grade Reports. Mentors will have more responsibility in this process at that time.
