

Hollembaek's

Student Web-links

These links will be of great use understanding American and World history. Assignments during the year may include the use of one or more of these (HIS 110 & 111 students especially).

Daryl Cagle's Professional Cartoonists Index: This site will come in handy when doing current homework.

<http://cagle.slate.msn.com/>

Internet Modern History Sourcebook: This site that offers a plethora of primary source documents on it as well as links to other sites.

<http://www.fordham.edu/halsall/mod/modsbook.html>

America Pathways to the Present Prentice Hall: This is an a link for your textbook. Look for the student resouces, and survey, for support or clarification when doing homework from the text.

<http://www.phschool.com/atschool/pathways>

This Nation virtual US history library: As the title suggests this is a virtual library for American history.

<http://www.thisnation.com/library/>

Regents Review Sites: These sites are two of the best in preparing for NY Regents exams.

NY State Education department review page, power point presentation is on this web page detailing a typical US History Regents exam, also a regents review session of a TV broadcast that I have a video copy of some of the past broadcasts.

http://www.regentsreviewlive.net/rrl/rrl\_ushis.html

Regents review for all subject areas, this site even has regents questions and practice tests.

<http://regentsprep.org/>

Government Sites: Each of these should be self-explanatory.

<http://www.house.gov/>

<http://www.senate.gov/>

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/>

<http://www.supremecourtus.gov/>

US Small Business Administration: A list and links page to all US governmental servers.

<http://www.sbaonline.sba.gov/world/federal-servers.html>