Chronicle

Message from the Superintendent

by Marilyn Capawan, Superintendent

As August draws to a close, September's promise of a fresh beginning is just ahead. "Back to School" has special meanings for each of us, whether we are students (former or current), educators, or parents. At Keshequa, the start of a new school year represents the renewal of our commitment to helping our students develop their potential and achieve their dreams. We know that learning is the key to success; therefore learning will be our focus.

Learning has been a summer activity for many of our teachers and administrators, as they participated in a variety of professional development opportunities. The Reading First and Response to Intervention initiatives will remain important tools in the early identification and addressing of student needs. Our Pre-Kindergarten program enters its second year of providing four year olds with a rich literacy and social experience, preparing them for future academic success. We will update you throughout the year on these and other programs as we continue to keep student achievement a major goal.

As our students and teachers head back to school, they will enter buildings that have been beautifully maintained over the summer. Our custodial and maintenance workers are the finest, and we thank them for the pride and effort that are reflected in their work. Architects have also been busy in our buildings as the EXCEL Capital Project is in the schematic design and development phase. We will keep you posted as the project progresses.

In this issue we celebrate the many accomplishments of our students over the last year: there is much to be proud of here at KCS! While we recognize and honor the past, we welcome the challenges of the future. Building on the foundation of high expectations, hard work, and community support, we can be confident our students will reap the rewards of an outstanding education. I look forward to working with all of you to provide our children with the very best learning experiences and environment possible. After all, that is what they deserve!

Back to School
The first day of school for students of KCS will be Wednesday, September 5, 2007

Title I: Some Facts for Parents

By Christine Antalek, Director of Curriculum and Instruction

Title I is the name of a grant program from the United States Department of Education designed to help students achieve the rigorous curriculum standards set forth by the No Child Left Behind legislation. It is the largest federal education program for elementary and secondary schools in the United States. Each state receives part of the federal funds that was appropriated for this school year. This summer, we will apply to the New York State Education Department for a portion of these state funds.

Keshequa receives funding from Title I, Part A, which specifically targets academic achievement for students who need additional assistance. Other Title grants target areas like professional development, use of technology in instruction, innovative programming, and school safety. We use the Title I, Part A monies to help pay salaries of remediation and summer school teachers, provide supplies and materials to remedia-

Parents' Right to Know Information

According to the No Child Left Behind legislation, any school that receives federal funding through the Title I federal grant must provide information to parents about the qualifications of the teachers in that school. The Dalton Elementary School receives Title I funding. Parents have a right to know information regarding the teacher's certification for their child's class and any qualifications of the paraprofessionals that are serving their child.

Parents can learn about their child's teachers' qualifications by calling the District Office at 468-2541 ext. 1105.

tion programs, and fund professional training for teachers to increase student achievement.

As with any grant, there are requirements that schools must follow if they accept these federal funds.

We must complete a budget as part of the grant application and follow it during the course of the year. We need to report the numbers of students who receive help as part of the Title I grant. We must communicate with parents if their children are receiving extra academic help through Title I services, like academic intervention. Also, a new law requires us to set aside a small portion of the Title I funds to assist any homeless children in our schools.

Parents may learn more about federal Title grants by contacting Christine Antalek, Director of Curriculum and Instruction at 468-2541 ext. 1102. More information will be available to parents during the Dalton Elementary's Open House evening this fall.

Parent/Teen Communication

Research suggests that teens do better when parents, whether single parents, two parents or any other family type, are:

- Warm and supportive
- Provide clear expectations for behavior
- Model the respect that they expect from their child

The following are some tips for parents and guardians:

- Be a parent, not a friend. Children need and expect clear boundaries. It shows that you care about them.
- Ignore the teen attitude. Learn to select your battles. Pick the more important issues.
- Talk about the tough stuff. It is important that your children know how you feel about issues such as sex, and drug and alcohol use.
- Compliment them. Make a habit out of saying at least 3 positive things every day.

- Get to know their friends and friends' parents. As you learn about their friends, you will also learn more about your own teen.
- Don't be a maid. Teens need meaningful rules and responsibilities. Don't do everything for them.

- Respect and be respected. If you expect respect, you need to show them respect on a daily basis.
- Listen, and don't lecture. When they are ready to talk, listen and try to resist the urge to give too much advice or tell them what to do. Help them figure it out themselves by asking them questions to guide their decisions.
- Agree to disagree. It's normal to feel like you disagree about everything. Teens like to question the norm but always remember that you have the final word when it comes to how your teen should behave.
- Have fun together. Find out what fun means to your teen and try to make fun times and good memories with them.

2007-2008 KCS Bus Routes

Following are the morning bus routes for the start of the 2007-08 school year. As in the past, some of the afternoon runs will be a little different. These routes are current as of the time they were sent to the press. Bus drivers, bus numbers and routes are subject to change as needed. This year changes to bus routes are minimal. In most cases drivers and buses will be the same and route times will be similar to last year. All students have been assigned to the bus that services their home unless a Childcare Transportation Request Form was turned in to the transportation office in July as required. All other transportation arrangements need to be cleared through the transportation office per the district's Childcare Policy.

As usual changes were made in bus routes to balance loads as needed. Please have your child at the bus stop at least ten minutes early for the first few days of school because routes are unsettled. Elementary students who walk to the Nunda bus circle to ride a bus to Dalton should be at the bus circle between 7:45 and 7:50 am. If you drive your child(ren) to school please drop them off in front of the school buildings. The school bus circles must be kept clear for buses to unload.

Remember it is always unlawful to pass a stopped school bus when the red lights at the top front and rear are flashing, even on school grounds.

If you have any questions regarding transportation arrangements for your child(ren), please contact Ivan Beardsley, Transportation Supervisor, at the Keshequa Bus Garage. The telephone number at the garage is 476-5789.

By the Window Sill*by Michaela Hillier*

There sits a girl by the window
Watching the day roll by.
Her face is full of shadow
No one can see her cry.

Cars fly down the street
People pass by.
None of whom she will ever meet
No matter how hard she'd try.

Forever she will sit on the sill and weep
Trapped in the misery's confines.
Not a single beam of light can seep
Through the cloudiness of her mind.

Only one could make her laugh
Only one could cause a smile.
But all her happiness ended the day the hospital staff
Wheeled him down the aisle.

She tries to remember his booming voice
How his beard used to tickle her chin.
And how he would always give her a choice
No matter how much trouble she was in.

Then as she sat there and reminisced
The world seemed to stand still.
What if he knew of all the life she'd missed
Sitting by the window sill?
