

Plans for Mark Scher, Weeks of 09/12/05 , meeting ABC, week 02

English 9 (Block 9.01, meeting A1C2D1 [23 students]; 9.06, meeting A6C5D6 [24 students]; 9.07, meeting B3D1E2 [22 students])

After Day 1, daily, students show knowledge of definitions and use of Global voc. (see list)

As possible, start each class with an episode from videotape of Odyssey, asking students to report their observations about the conduct of major characters (characterization and motivation).

In sequence through week:

Distribute syllabi; collect signature sheets for classes that received the syllabus earlier.

Distribute Elements of Lit. (get numbers). Collect portfolios.

FOCUS: solving problems in writing

Start first composition. First, class lists steps in successful composition-- prewriting for ideas, writing, rewriting. Remind to identify audience, check organization, use detail, check form.

Distribute essay rubric; use Regents Prep p.6; show models. [See <http://docushare.edutech.org/dsweb/View/Collection-7119>>

Intelligence is the ability to solve problems. What kinds of problems do you solve best [state at least 2]? Describe how you do that, after brainstorming. (About 15 minutes.) Teacher collects papers.

FOCUS; using note-taking skills, using graphic organizers. using teacher comments on your writing.

Review note-taking and review strategy for reading new text: do SQ3R, asking what do you know, what do you not know or understand, what can you figure out? Read aloud Elements, Gary Soto, pages 72 to 76. Students post notes on bulletin board with their answers to these questions; share answers to any questions. [Students finish the reading on their own.]

Go further, if not addressed in student responses: Write a summary of the story. What is it about? What do you know about the protagonist (teach the word) and the situation? What is your reaction to Fausto's behavior at different moments in the story?

Review value of graphic organizers. Practice that with this:

Incident in No-Guitar Blues	Meaning of Incident	Similar Incident that you know of

Plans for Mark Scher, Weeks of 09/12/05 , meeting ABC, week 02

End lesson with students stating what they've learned.

FOCUS: using graphic organizers effectively and pulling the lessons together.
Students take quiz on "No-Guitar Blues."
Students discuss their questions and answers for Soto, using 76 1-6 as scaffold.
Fill out and collect Literary Review Sheet for Soto.

If not done earlier, students fill out chart above.

Writers' Workshop: depending on what teacher found in this week's composition, class breaks into focus groups— teacher tutors for indiv. needs.

While waiting, students study Global Studies vocab. with test to follow.
Students take test on first vocab. from Global Studies.

Students write essay from Elements, 76, "Critical Response," due at date to be assigned. Students should be mindful of teacher response to previous essay.

Global voc. (abbot , abdicate , absolutism)
--

Students practice vocabulary from each other's crossword puzzles or from mine. Second half of period: students evaluate the draft of student essay on pp. 273–274 in Preparing for the Regents Comprehensive Examination in English.

Students recall authors, titles, themes, characterization, etc. for literature read this year. Time permitting, we may start the critical lens essay on p. 302 of Preparing for the Regents Comprehensive Examination in English.

ACE English (meeting A3B1D2) [17 students]

Through week, we have access to laptops. Use them to log in to <turnitin.com>.

1. Review the issue of documenting sources and avoiding plagiarism. As assigned, individual students explain issues raised in Faigley 297-304. After modeling by the teacher, individual students show how Thomas uses sources in 310-318. You will leave this section of the course knowing when and how to document sources.
2. Define "argument." Prior to discussion read Faigley, 1–4. Bring to class a list of at least five arguments that you observed recently.
3. In class, help each other make a list of things that "tick you off," for use later.
4. Write an ungraded writing sample on this topic: why should you be taking this course? We will make time for work on this topic in class, and we will agree on a deadline for this assignment.
