

Make Your Own Clipart

The trick to this is knowing that a windows metafile is a clipart file.

Open sketchpad and create whatever diagram you would like to create...simple or complex.
When done, click File, Save As

After choosing a location to save and giving the diagram a name...now the critical step...in the Save as type box, you must choose Windows Metafile (*.wmf). Then click save.

To retrieve this image, open a word processing document and use whatever insert command it uses for inserting a picture. In MS Word the clicks are Insert, Picture, From File. This is where you will need to remember where you saved your image and what you called it.
