

COLLEGE SEARCH WEBSITES

www.review.com

A college search website sponsored by the Princeton Review test preparation company.

www.collegeboard.com

A college search website sponsored by the College Board (the SAT people)

www.college-guide-nys.org

Site for NYS, independent colleges, private college

www.c3apply.org

A college search site sponsored by ACT. Click on the “Student” icon.

www.fastweb.com

Click on “Free College Search” and then “Advanced Search”.

FINANCIAL AID WEBSITES

www.finaid.org/

A very good, comprehensive presentation of aid sources, loans, etc. It also contains free scholarship searches from several different databases. Free – START HERE!

www.fastweb.com/

A free search for private scholarships. They ask for address and phone numbers information which they provide to their sponsors.

www.collegeexpress.com

Click on financial Aid office, then Financial Aid 101. A very nice overview of how financial aid works; its worth printing.

www.wiredscholar.com

This site is sponsored by Sallie Mae. To use this service, you need an e-mail address. Free

www.ed.gov

Advanced college search on COOL: College Opportunities Online Locator.

www.federalStudentAid.gov

Click on Financial Aid for College. Electronic FAFSA is here as well as FAFSA4caster, a tool to provide you with an ‘early estimate’ of financial aid eligibility.

ESTIMATING YOUR FAMILY CONTRIBUTION

www.c3apply.org

Click on “Student”, then “Financial Need Estimator”. Have your real/estimated tax and asset information available.

www.collegeexpress.com

Click on “Financial Aid”.

Senior Bulletins

**Senior bulletins are created by me & delivered to you in homeroom throughout your senior year. These are the most efficient, up to date & information filled resources available to you! I use the senior bulletins to communicate information related to college representatives, events, scholarships & financial aid. I also include information that relates to you with regard to graduation. Please read these & share them with your parents.

“Bridges (Test Gear) & Choices”

The resource “Bridges -also known as- Choices” is now on the web! It is an excellent resource in the areas of college selection, SAT preparation & and financial aid. Students receive an introduction to this site in EIP class.